

Ko Imanaka

Country Director of Japan International Volunteer Center (JVC) Sudan Office

After having worked for a Japanese manufacturing company, he joined JVC in 2018. Since then, he has been engaged in various projects in the areas of education, child protection, water, sanitation and hygiene, livelihood, vocational trainings and community trust building in rural areas. Since 2018, he had been based in Khartoum, the capital city of Sudan, until the outbreak of military clashes broke out in April 2023, which forced him to move to Port Sudan, the biggest humanitarian hub in Sudan today. His responsibilities include the development and management of educational projects in Yemen where he spent his student life earlier.
